

Air 1 is the only radio station our family listens to. They are a wholesome alternative to what other radio stations offer, particularly for families like ours with growing kids. For us as a family, we find that we feel encouraged by the type of music they play and the stories of people that are on Air 1.